

Silent Cries and Chiming Bells

Have you believed in God during your moment of trials? To what degree?

No matter the answer, God loves you more than you would ever know. Whatever void you have from Judgement day, will be filled with faith by the help of our loving community, Eternal Paradise and Sunshine!

The outside world is a cruel place, such a place would earn the title of Hell. Countless souls left abandoned after that day. Those who are doomed to stay outside have felt the black rain drip from their bodies, the very thing which will stay by your side until there is naught. Every island and archipelago has drowned and is now part of the ocean.

Worry not, for the end has not yet come. As a pastor, I know for a fact the church has everything you ask for: hospitality, belonging, comfort, love and more! You and your loved ones will thrive in our church, where the Pope, guide to us mortals and who can hear God himself watch over you, just like how God would.

During supper, our churchgoers have the privilege of enjoying the homemade stew that stands before them, while silence fills the room, save for the few bells chiming across the halls. Words are made to disrupt the tranquility the church offers, but I forgive those who break our rules unknowingly.

The church isn't one for giving punishment, but as a pastor, I believe in putting sinners in their place. Simply put, you will wish for the chance to plead our Savior himself to forgive you with your own words, if you manage that is. For every punishment, there is a reward: Faith.

As for every church, there are rules to follow. The Pope and everyone shall know it as The Ten Commandments:

- Thou shalt not have strange gods before me.
- Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain.
- Remember thou keep the Sabbath Day.
- Thou shalt keep silent until God gives you the privilege to speak.
- Thou shalt not kill.
- Thou shalt not commit adultery.
- Thou shalt not steal.
- Thou shalt not affront who serve God.
- Thou shalt not question the bearer of God's words himself.
- Thou shalt not reveal or speak of matters concerning
